7.01 Regulation FD Disclosure.

On October 15, 2018, The Carlyle Group L.P. (“we,” “our” or “us”) issued a press release announcing the transaction described below under Item 8.01 of this Current Report on Form 8-K. The press release is attached hereto as Exhibit 99.1 and is incorporated herein by reference.

Pursuant to General Instruction B.2 of Current Report on Form 8-K, the information in Item 7.01 of this Current Report on Form 8-K, including the press release attached hereto as Exhibit 99.1, shall not be deemed to be “filed” for the purposes of Section 18 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, or otherwise subject to the liabilities of that section. Furthermore, such information shall not be incorporated by reference into any filing or other document pursuant to the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, except as shall be expressly set forth by specific reference in such filing or document.

8.01 Other Events.

On October 10, 2018, we, acting through one of our subsidiaries, entered into a securities purchase agreement with H&K AAG Holdings LLC (the “Seller”), William D. Hoffman and Robert G Korn (together, the “Founders”), pursuant to which we have agreed to acquire Apollo Aviation Group (“AAG”) from Seller. All of the equity interests in Seller are indirectly owned by the Founders and their affiliates. The transaction is expected to close no later than January 31, 2019. At closing, AAG will become a new business line within Carlyle’s Global Credit segment.

Established in 2002, AAG is a Miami, Florida-based multi-strategy investment manager that is engaged in commercial aviation aircraft financing and investment and providing investment management services related to the commercial aviation industry. AAG has $5.6 billion in assets under management with an investor base that is predominantly institutional, including public and private pension funds, family offices and endowments. In connection with the acquisition of AAG, we, acting through one of our subsidiaries, have entered into employment agreements with the Founders to provide expertise in commercial aviation aircraft financing and investment and investment management services related to the commercial aviation industry.

Pursuant to the securities purchase agreement, we will acquire 100% of the equity interests in AAG, which will entitle us to 100% of the management fee-related revenues, performance fee-related revenues and advisory fee-related revenues of AAG and its subsidiaries that serve as advisors or servicers of AAG’s funds and portfolios of investments; provided that, while the Founders are employed by us or our subsidiaries and for a fixed period of time thereafter, we will receive 55% of the carried interest on capital invested in funds managed or advised by AAG and its subsidiaries, with the remaining 45% being allocated to the Seller and certain employees and service providers. In consideration for acquiring 100% of the equity interests in AAG, we have agreed to pay to the Seller (i) at the closing of the acquisition, subject to customary adjustments for cash, debt, working capital and transaction expenses, $75 million in cash and (ii) subject to AAG achieving certain performance targets during 2020 through 2025, up to $150 million in cash; provided that, for both the payment at closing and the payments for future performance, at our option, up to 25% of the applicable payment may be paid by delivering newly-issued common units of The Carlyle Group L.P. (“Common Units”) that have been registered under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended. The actual number of Common Units to be delivered to the Seller will be determined by the closing price of the Common Units one trading day prior to the date of delivery of the Common Units to the Seller. The Seller will be subject to the trading policies generally applicable to our and our subsidiaries’ employees who hold Common Units.

Forward Looking Statements

This Current Report on Form 8-K may contain forward-looking statements within the meaning of Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933 and Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. These statements include, but are not limited to, statements related to the benefits we expect to realize as a result of our agreement to acquire AAG, as well as our expectations regarding the performance of our business, our financial results, our liquidity and capital resources and other non-historical statements. You can identify these forward-looking statements by the use of words such as “outlook,” “believes,” “expects,” “potential,” “continues,” “may,” “will,” “should,” “seeks,” “approximately,” “predicts,” “intends,” “plans,” “estimates,” “anticipates” or the negative version of these words or other comparable words. These statements are subject to risks, uncertainties and assumptions, including those associated with a failure to complete the acquisition and the failure of AAG to perform as we expect, as well as those described under the section entitled “Risk Factors” in our Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2017 filed with the SEC on February 15, 2018, as such factors may be updated from time to time in our periodic filings with the SEC, which are accessible on the SEC’s website at www.sec.gov. These factors should not be construed as exhaustive and should be read in conjunction with the other cautionary statements that are included in this release and in our filings with the SEC. We undertake no obligation to publicly update or review any forward-looking statements, whether as a result of new information, future developments or otherwise, except as required by applicable law.

The Carlyle Group to Acquire Apollo Aviation Group, a Commercial Aviation Investment Firm

Carlyle Expands Global Credit Platform with Acquisition

Firm Manages $5.6 Billion in Institutional Capital and Structured Aircraft Financings

New York, NY – Global alternative asset manager The Carlyle Group (NASDAQ: CG) today announced it has agreed to acquire 100% of Apollo Aviation Group (AAG), a global commercial aviation investment and servicing firm with $5.6 billion in assets under management including 243 aircraft owned, managed or committed to purchase. AAG will become a new business line, operating as Carlyle Aviation Partners Ltd., within Carlyle’s Global Credit Segment. The transaction is subject to customary conditions and is expected to close no later than January 31, 2019.

Established in 2002, AAG raises closed-end funds from limited partners to provide financing solutions to the commercial aviation sector. AAG purchases, leases and manages portfolios of commercial aircraft. This acquisition will allow Carlyle’s Global Credit platform to offer long-duration exposure to commercial aviation markets through a variety of credit, equity and structured finance instruments.

Carlyle Co-CEO Kewsong Lee said, “This corporate acquisition expands Carlyle’s Global Credit capabilities, particularly in the growing asset-based credit market. AAG is a scalable platform with strong growth prospects given its 16-year history and track record of performance.”

Mark Jenkins, Head of Carlyle’s Global Credit Segment, said, “AAG’s expertise in managing and investing in aviation assets and use of long-term fund structures allows it to invest well through economic cycles. We are excited to welcome the highly accomplished AAG management team, which is a proven force in the growing commercial aviation finance market.”

Bill Hoffman, Chairman of Apollo Aviation, said, “The Carlyle Group has demonstrated itself to be one of the leading alternative asset managers worldwide and Robert and I couldn’t think of a better home for the business we’ve built over the past 16 years.”

Robert Korn, President of Apollo Aviation, added, “Joining forces with The Carlyle Group allows us to continue to support our airline customers and play an even greater strategic role in the aviation sector.”

Aviation / Lessor Market Growth

- Global passenger traffic has doubled every 15 years (1973 –2015)
- Passenger growth: 1987 – 1 billion; 2005 – 2 billion; 2013 – 3 billion
- ~41,000 aircraft with a value of ~$6.1 trillion are forecast to be delivered by 2038
- The percentage of operators’ fleets sourced through lessors has grown from 20% to 40% since 1998; expected to grow to 50%+ of the global fleet by 2020

Carlyle’s Global Credit platform, with $36 billion in assets as of June 30, 2018, includes funds in Loans & Structured Credit, Direct Lending, Opportunistic Credit, Energy Credit and Distressed Credit. These businesses have more than 100 investment professionals in New York, Washington, DC, Los Angeles, Chicago, Hong Kong and London.
